[Greene first came to Asheville in 1916-17, and is first listed in the 1917 city directory as chief engineer of Carolina Wood Products Co., a Detroit company who had just opened a plant in Woodfin. Greene is not listed again until 1922. Asheville Times
Feb. 28, 1921 "Well known architect locates in Asheville" records his return to Asheville and that he had been engaged as architect by the U.S> Steel Co. at Duluth, Minn and also that he had removed the town of Hibbing, Minn. As it had rich deposits of iron ore.
Work was involved also in creating a new town. In 1925 and 1926 he is also president of Asheville Buildings Securities Co." (1924-1929)and is joined by Robert L. Kane (who has a Chicago address) as VP and architect. Kane is not listed in 1927. Greene created the firm Ronald Greene Limited in 1931 with partner J.E. Greene (listed on Partnership Agreement as a "Special Parnter" of Coldwater Michigan; in 1935 the city directory lists architect W.
Stewart Rogers with Ronald Greene Ltd. (No partnership agreement found for Rogers with Ronald Greene Ltd., nor with Greene & Rogers.) The firm's name became Greene & Rogers 1939-1942. Greene began working with Kingsport, TN architect Milton P. Robelot in 1948. It is first listed in the 1950 city directory, forming the firm Greene & Robelot. Greene moved to Gastonia in 1951.

CAROLINA APARTMENTS

LOCATION: 68 N. French Broad Ave.

BUILT: 1918

BUILT BY: Asheville Apartment Co.

ARCHITECT: Not known but probably Ronald Greene. Not listed in article "Contract Given for $100,000 Apartments" A-Cit. Mar. 16. 1917. Article "Marked Success is made by Architect" A-Cit. Jan. 16, 1926 lists the Carolina Apartments as one of the buildings designed by Ronald Greene. Greene came to Asheville in 1917 with the company of Carolina Wood Products of Detroit (who located a plant in Woodfin in the same year) to erect the Kenilworth Inn. Carolina Wood Products Co. was awarded the contract for the apartment house so it would make since that he would have designed it. Possibly Keller & son of Louisville but this is from a much earlier attempt to erect the apartments--see features below.

ARCHITECTURE: 3-story Neo-Federal Flemish bond brick structure; frame 3-story verandas with columns.

CONTRACTOR: Carolina Wood Products Co.

FEATURES:

- Had been planned much earlier: Assumed to be the same apartment in "City Will Have Apartment House" Asheville Gazette News 7/28/1913 which states "The concrete plans for the building are now being drawn by Keller & son of Louisville . . ." Also, "Apartment House Plans Completed" A-Cit May 1, 1914.
- One of the first modern apartment houses in Asheville.
- Originally built as luxury apartments.
- Partially destroyed by fire in 1992, which gutted south wing. Currently: Public Interest Projects Inc. rebuilt and renovated for low to middle income apartment units. Renovations by Samsel Architects; contractor, KCB Construction Co.; managers, Leslie & Co.

Questions to answer:

1. When did Revell begin building houses.
2. When did Revell stop building houses.
3. Did Revell's designs change after R.S. Smith (circa 1894) began designing houses in Asheville? In what ways?
4. Some houses were designed by Smith and built by Revell.
